

ACTIVITY 6 - LONDON MARATHON

John is running the London Marathon.

At the 17 mile marker he gets cramp in his leg

How many miles does he still have to run?

You need to know how long the London Marathon is – if you don't know you must find out before you start to draw the bar model. Your bar will represent the whole marathon. Once you know how long the whole marathon is, and how long he has already covered, you will see how far he has left to run – or at least – you will see how to work it out.
